

THE LIBERAL POLICY

How the Party Would Conduct Spanish Affairs.

WEYLER WOULD BE RECALLED

The Present System of Government in Cuba Would Be Immediately Abandoned.

New York, June 5.—The World this morning prints a dispatch from Madrid giving an interview with Senor Sagasta, leader of the Spanish Liberals. "We would be more liberal in every sense than the Conservative party can afford to be," said Senor Sagasta. "We would not hesitate to go much further than Senor Canovas has gone in the way of a home rule policy for the East Indies in order to secure the loyalty and friendship of the colonies there."

"Our policy would entail a change in the supreme direction of Cuban affairs, of course. The removal of General Weyler would be immediate, and the present policy of executive severity and repression would be abandoned, for that system is not calculated to improve the prospects of pacification, which we earnestly desire. As to the question of the relations between Spain and the United States, I am not acquainted with what has passed recently between the Spanish and American governments. I have no reason to suppose that international considerations or pressure influenced the decision of Canovas to resign. The Liberal party wishes to maintain and improve the cordial relations with the United States and open the colonial policy will help to do so."

"But neither the Liberal party nor any Spanish party could tolerate any question of interfering with the rights of Spain or of supporting the interference of foreign powers in her relations with her colonies."

"The Liberal party would be as zealous as the Conservative party in the support of the rights of Spain in Cuba and Porto Rico."

By order of the Queen Marshal Campos has returned from Catalonia, where he had gone for a brief holiday. The Queen wishes to consult him regarding the solution of the crisis. His opinion and those of Marquis Lopez, Domiguez and Blasco are likely to have a decisive influence. All these make secret of their opinions, but the recall of Weyler is expedient, both for the pacification of Cuba and for international considerations. It is a singular feature of the present crisis that the opinion of all the statesmen consulted on the advisability of the recall of Weyler and whether a change of policy in Cuba and the granting of home rule would be likely to hasten the termination of the war.

The whole drift of the interview of the Queen with Marquis Campos, Blanco, Lopez and Domiguez and Mr. Senor Canovas and Sagasta shows that all are unanimous in considering the formation of a new government to have well-defined, concerted plans for carrying out Cuban home rule and for endeavoring to strengthen the cordial relations with the United States, and all believe that the indispensable preliminary step to this is the appointment of a new government, with a governor general who would inspire foreign countries and the Spanish colonies with confidence in the sincerity of Spanish colonial policy.

All the generals and statesmen when approached by the Queen are much struck by her anxiety and earnestness in seeking a solution giving the most promise of a permanent pacification of the colonies and an honorable friendly understanding with the United States.

WHERE WILL IT ALL END?

Much Speculation as to the Appeals of Durrant and Warden.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Much speculation is being indulged in by local attorneys as to the outcome of the appeal taken by the attorneys for Theodore Durrant and Walter D. Vorden to the Supreme court of the United States. It is generally conceded that the circuit court erred in not granting the application for a writ of habeas corpus, the petition of each murderer will be heard upon its merits.

Should the writ be denied upon the merits of the petitions other appeals may be taken upon other points not involved in the petitions and where the matter will end is a conjecture.

BASEBALL TOURNAMENT.

The Bushnell Alerts of Alameda Win the First Game.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The Bushnell Alerts of Alameda and the Columbus of this city played the first game of the tournament for the championship of California, the Examiner standard championship trophy, $1000 in gold coin and the pennant of 1897. The Columbus were beaten, the score at the finish being 14 to 1.

Rear Admiral Lee Dead.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Rear Admiral Samuel Phillips Lee, U. S. N., retired, the last of the commanders of the great squadrons during the civil war, died at his home at Silver Springs, near this city, at 6 o'clock this afternoon, after a short illness, of a stroke of paralysis. He was a Virginian by birth and a direct descendant of Light Horse Harry Lee of revolutionary fame.

Died in Central America.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—News was received by the officials of the Pacific Mail Company today by telegraph from Central America of the death of Captain Mortons of the Mail steamer City of Para, and also of Chief Engineer McLean of the steamer San Jose. Captain Mortons has been in command of the City of Para about a year.

En Route to Japan.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Colonel A. E. Buck Atlanta, Ga., recently appointed United States minister to Japan, is here en route to his field of labor. He is accompanied by Mrs. Buck and W. D. Baker, his private secretary. The party will sail for Japan on the steamer Peru on Tuesday next.

Aeronaut Killed.

CENTREVILLE, Ia., June 5.—Aeronaut John Walters was killed here this afternoon by dropping from his balloon with a parachute. Walters was caught in a cluster of telegraph wires, the parachute rope broke and he fell forty feet, dying shortly afterwards.

ATLANTIC TO PACIFIC.

Gigantic Railroad Enterprise Set in Motion.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A transcontinental railroad from tidewater to tidewater in the gigantic enterprise which was set in motion when $30,000 was paid at Springfield for the incorporation of the company with a capital stock of $30,000,000.

The Baltimore and Ohio, the Wisconsin Central, the Chicago and Northern Pacific and the Northern Pacific systems figure in the undertaking. By a consolidation of these lines a connection will be produced by the new system, one end of which will touch the Atlantic and the other the Pacific.

RUN DOWN BY A TRAIN.

Two Girls Fatally Injured Near Templeton, Cal.

TEMPLETON, June 5.—At the Mission Station and Lizzie Hanson, aged respectively 17 and 19, were driving to San Luis Obispo this morning a northbound train struck their buggy at a railroad crossing near Cuesta. Both girls were thrown from the vehicle and the train ran over Stella's right leg, cutting it off at the knee. The young women were taken on the train to Paso Robles, where they received medical attention. Despite surgical treatment, however, Stella died this afternoon and Lizzie is in a precarious condition from concussion of the brain. The Hanson family is one of the most prominent in Santa Margarita.

Central Pacific Wins a Suit.

OAKLAND, June 5.—Judge Greene rendered a decision late this afternoon in the suit of the Central Pacific Railroad company to eject Joseph Hodgkins from certain lands held by him in this and Contra Costa counties. The railroad company, by the terms of the ruling, recovers all the land which it had claimed. The suit has been long drawn and bitterly fought.

NOW FOR SUGAR TARIFF

THE SENATE REACHES AN IMPORANT SCHEDULE.

Wide Divergence of Views on the Democratic Side of the House.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—When the senate laid aside the tariff bill tonight it had reached the sugar schedule, which has been the subject of so much interest and conflict. During the day many of the paragraphs of the wood schedule had been agreed to, but that restoring lumber to the dutiable list at $2 per 1000 proved the greatest stumbling block since the debate began. It led to an extended debate, during which a wide divergence of views was developed on the Democratic side of the chamber.

Mr. Bacon, Democrat of Georgia, gave voice to the committee's view, saying it was essential to the lumber interests of the south. He also spoke of a revenue tariff so adjusted as to give equal benefit to all industries.

Mr. Vest, Democrat of Missouri, also spoke of a revenue tariff so adjusted as to give equal benefit to all industries. He also spoke of a revenue tariff so adjusted as to give equal benefit to all industries. He also spoke of a revenue tariff so adjusted as to give equal benefit to all industries.

Unusual Features of the Great Parade.

POLICE EXCLUDE THE PUBLIC

No Cheers for the Emperor and Empress—Result of the Von Tausch Trial.

[Copyrighted, 1897, by the Associated Press.]

BERLIN, June 5.—Several unusual features accompanied the great parade on the Tempelhof grounds last Tuesday. By the rigorous police rule, barring all traffic from all streets leading to the Tempelhof, the public was practically excluded from this sight, which for many years has been a popular diversion. The orders were brutally carried out by the police, many persons being kicked and injured on the field. The number of carriages was much smaller than usual. The Emperor and Empress, while going to and from the field, were not once cheered by the populace, which was in a very ugly mood, as the police was attributed to the Emperor's refusal to accept the Emperor's offer of a pardon to the Emperor's enemies.

Meeting of the Board of Governors at Sacramento.

THREE NEW CLUBS ADMITTED

Fresno's Petition for a Race Meet on July 5th Will Be Sanctioned.

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—The board of governors, California Associated Cycling club, was received with great ceremony on their arrival this evening by the Capitol City Wheelmen. With them came about 200 other cyclists. The board of governors met at 8 o'clock, President Swain presiding and fifteen clubs represented. The Terminal City Wheelmen of Stockton, the Turn Verein Cycling club of San Jose and the Ariel club of Vallejo were admitted to membership.

Mr. Long of San Francisco and Judge Lampton of Woodland were elected members, representing two large groups of unattached wheelmen. Scott F. Smith, C. C. W. Sacramento, was elected first vice president, vice F. T. Dwyer resigned.

The matter of the conflict of petitions for sections for race meets at Sacramento, Stockton, Fresno, Felsaluma and Santa Rosa on July 4th and 5th was referred to the race committee with power to act. It is understood that a sanction to Petaluma for the 4th and to Fresno and Sacramento for the 5th, only will be granted and that Petaluma cannot change to the 5th.

The governors voted thanks to the Capitol City Wheelmen for their lavish hospitality, and to the ladies of Sacramento for the beautiful floral decorations in the club room in honor of the guests.

At 10 o'clock the guests and local wheelmen, three hundred strong, assembled in Foresters Hall where a "smoker" was given them, with songs, recitations, orchestral music and refreshments. It lasted until a late hour. Tomorrow morning the guests will go on a run over half the Folsom wheelway, said to be the best wheelway west of Chicago.

TO OPERATE ON THE YUKON.

Chartered British Company With Millions Back of It.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Eli A. Gage, auditor of the North American Transportation and Trading Company, is in Seattle on his way to the company's trading posts on the Yukon. To an Associated Press correspondent he said today that he understood a chartered British company is preparing to operate on the Yukon on the same plan and scale as the famous Chartered South African Company. It will build and operate a line of steamships, maintain a force of soldiers, operate mines, build steamships, etc. The company is understood to have millions of money at its disposal.

The North American Company and the Alaska Commercial Company will send 7000 tons of food into the Yukon this year.

There are now preparing 6000 people in the Yukon country and allowing one ton of food for a year for each person they would be more than enough to carry them through next winter.

VALLEY ROAD SCHEDULE.

Rates from Stockton South Subject to Further Reduction.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley railroad has made a new reduced schedule on grain rates on the line from Hanford to San Francisco and intermediate points. The cut of the Southern Pacific is met, thus fulfilling the hopes of the farmers of the San Joaquin that competition would in time result in a reduction of the tariff from all new switches along the line, the most important change is the new rate from Hanford. It is $2.35, or 25 cents plus 15 cents for switching. The new rate includes switching.

In the schedule Tariff Manager Gage says: "The rates take effect this date, and will remain in force until superseded by a later tariff. Those quoted beyond Stockton are subject to change in traffic arrangements with carriers by water from that point. The rates are for car loads of 24,000 pounds and upward."

Will Grow Hamble.

Experiments in Florida and Louisiana have shown that bamboo will grow in those states almost as well as in the hotter countries. Around Fort Myers there are bamboos that have attained to a height of 60 or 70 feet. They are of a variety which usually grows to about 70 feet in India. In Orange county there is one clump of bamboo, and to be only 10 years old, in which the stalks have attained to the height of 65 feet, averaging 13 inches in circumference. There are 80 stalks in the clump. This particular clump is of a variety from Bengal, where the wood is used for building purposes and for light spars for vessels.

Savannah News.

A Prehistoric Jaw.

Parts of the skeleton of a prehistoric animal were found on the farm of Alexander Graham of Liberty township, Ind., the fragments indicating that the animal's jaw was probably four feet long. A part of the jaw is in good condition, as are some of the teeth, which are about a foot long, but most of the bones were so far decomposed when uncovered that they crumbled.

Jack Patterson, who conducts a Jis reputation near about two miles south of the city, near the railroad track, was shot in the leg yesterday afternoon. The bullet entered about three inches above the knee and, ranging downward, lodged in the joint. It will probably have a stiff knee as a result of the wound.

Patterson says that he was standing in the doorway of his saloon when he heard the report of a gun, which was followed by a sensation in his leg. He then realized that he had been shot. The saloon keeper denied that he knew who shot him. He is undoubtedly not telling the truth about the occurrence and uncommunicative about it.

Dr. One of this city was sent for and dressed the wound.

A gang of drunken men was about the saloon during the afternoon and evening, and it is probable that the shooting resulted from a quarrel among them. None about the place would speak of the matter, but it is not unlikely that "any words" will be made.

The supervisors at present have a petition before them from people residing in the vicinity of the saloon asking that the license be revoked. The place is a notorious one, and it is remarkable that it has been undisturbed this long.

LOOKS BAD FOR FIGEL

PECULIARITIES ABOUT HIS SYSTEM OF BOOKKEEPING.

Detective Bohlen Believes Hoffman Called His Clerk to Account.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—After four days of continuous investigation into the mysterious death of Isaac Hoffman, the battery-street merchant, who was found in a dying condition in his own home, the police have now advanced the conclusion that a murder was committed by some person as yet unknown.

The cloud of suspicion has not been lifted from Theodore Figel, Hoffman's confidential clerk and bookkeeper, who was admittedly in the office with Hoffman last Tuesday evening, less than half an hour before the discovery of the dying man.

After spending an hour over the books of the firm today, a detective and attorney for the relatives of the deceased came to the conclusion that there were several peculiarities about Figel's system of his making his entries, which need considerably more explanation than that vouchsafed by the book-keeper.

In the statement made by Figel to the police he said that the firm's profits for the year amounted to $32,000; but it now appears that the last act before he met his death was to write to his partner in New York to the effect that the firm had made $70,000 during the year. It is therefore conjectured that either Hoffman was misinformed as to the balance to the credit of the firm or that Figel's estimate is erroneous.

An evening paper publishes an interview with Chief of Detectives Bohlen to the effect that so far as the substantial evidence goes, things look very bad for Figel. Bohlen intimates that there is already a shortage shown in the firm's books and that he expects that when reported they will show a deficiency of several thousands.

Detective Bohlen is also accredited with having advanced the theory that Hoffman discovered irregularities and attempted to get an account of his partner's books, and that he was shot in the office on the evening of the tragedy.

Jack Patterson, who conducts a Jis reputation near about two miles south of the city, near the railroad track, was shot in the leg yesterday afternoon. The bullet entered about three inches above the knee and, ranging downward, lodged in the joint. It will probably have a stiff knee as a result of the wound.

LOUNGING ROBES

And Tea Gowns Described by Ch. Drecoll.

BLACK AND RED STILL IN FAVOR

The Viennese Customer Prefers
Soft and Clinging Styles—Trimmings, Etc.

Copyright, 1915, by A.M. Drecoll.

The spring and summer fashions show a decided difference in style from those of the winter season. All things in the wardrobe are now turning to the soft, flowing draperies that are so universally becoming. Even the French caftans or Harem-style dresses and blouses come in quantities to suit everyone's taste and purse, and the couturiere delights in making them up. Small waists are favored. Hand-somely woven damask is checked and will do nicely for more common styles, but for real elegance the plain color is preferred.

Robes and tea gowns make beautiful summer gowns, particularly if the sleeve is made moderately full and unlined. Robes are printed in imitation of the rich colors and designs of Indian and Chinese shawls, and are becoming more popular. The most artistic and charming robes, however, are those that are trimmed with the Oriental embroidery or beading exhibited in the shops.

The afternoon and tea gown models of the season are made of the softest and most clinging materials. The most popular is the robe de chambre, which is made of a soft, clinging material, and is trimmed with a wide white ribbon to the back of the neck, and from there falling in a graceful curve, where it is gathered into the skirt and forms a moderate train.

The robe de chambre is made of a soft, clinging material, and is trimmed with a wide white ribbon to the back of the neck, and from there falling in a graceful curve, where it is gathered into the skirt and forms a moderate train.

The light blouse and dark skirt will still be worn, but it is considered more elegant to have the skirt and bodice match. A pretty blouse for home wear or proper even for intimate dinners at home, consists of a tight-fitting, long-sleeved blouse, with a high collar, and a full skirt, with a wide white ribbon to the back of the neck, and from there falling in a graceful curve, where it is gathered into the skirt and forms a moderate train.

BIRTHS OF FRANCE.

A FASCINATING RECORD OF THE LIFE OF THE NATION.

Bertillon's Inquiry and the Appalling Result—Penalty of Army Recruits—Political Power of the State Involved—Some Startling Figures.

Jacques Bertillon, the inventor of the famous system of identifying criminals, is much concerned about the decreasing birth rate in France. He says:

"Our fears are again supported. An official report which is about to be published by Le Journal Officiel shows a deficit of 17,000 lives during the year of 1914."

This report is symptomatic and of its kind the worst yet made. In 1913, 1914 and 1915 the statistics showed an excess of deaths over births. But that was easily explained, as then the grip was at its height and deceased the births while it raised to alarmingly the number of deaths. In 1915 the figures have but one explanation. The birth rate is growing less and less."

A movement has been started by a club in London to furnish nurses with headgear by supplying them with bicycles. They are supplied with neat uniforms and have to report for an outing once a week. Many of them are engaged in wheeling wheelbarrows from their homes to the club, and are doing a good deal of good work.

"This decrease in births is general throughout France, especially in the northern parts and in Brittany. It has been explained as a consequence of civilization, but if this were so it would be necessary to accept France as the only civilized nation of the world, for she is the sole great European country where births diminish with such remarkable regularity, as these figures will show:

BIRTHS PER THOUSAND INHABITANTS.

Country	1914	1915	1916
Germany	18	18	18
Austria	18	18	18
England	18	18	18
Italy	18	18	18
France	18	18	18

"Afterward 22."

"Finis Gallie! No matter what point of view we take, the above figures lead us to that. The political and military consequences that will ensue are easy to perceive. On the morrow of their war France and Germany had almost the same number of recruits (296,934 in France and 297,185 in Germany), and we could still cling to the hope of today reconquering what we had lost. Today Germany has more than one-half more recruits (448,433) than France, which yet retains the original number, and, as Germany's number of births is twice (1,908,160) as large as in France (908,649) since 1891, it is plain that in 14 years she will have twice the army that we have."

"Even our wealth is threatened. Our exports reached during the years 1897-70 an average of 3,306,000,000 francs; in 1895 they increased to 3,974,000,000. During the same period the German exports increased from 2,974,000,000 francs (the average for 1872-70) to 4,500,000,000. The reason for this is very simple—the number of our workmen does not increase, while in Germany the population has jumped from 41,000,000 to 62,000,000; hence this gain over us."

"In ASSEMBLY the same condition prevails. pitch of bitterness and deadliness. Since the close of the war many of the old plantations in that great swamp region have been wholly deserted and nothing remains to tell whence they once were sweet young growths of close set trees and the scattered ruins of mansions and negro quarters. The De Blieu and Compouert feud ended in the year 1805, just as the great storm of war had at last ceased in the up country. It ended very strangely and, as befitted the predicament, with a singularly dramatic coup de main in the very heart of the swamp known as the Terre aux Loups-garoux.

CHAPTER II.

It does not matter, so far as this story goes, when or why or how the Compouert-De Blieu feud began. Suffice it to say that during the decade immediately preceding the one crisis that is to describe the war was marked without one of the more fatal meetings between members of the warring families. At last the only male representatives left above earth to settle the feud were two young men, Teulme de Blieu and Jacques Compouert, both of whom were in France at school when their respective fathers already grown old, met, fought and dreamed that he was Romeo or he suspected that she was Juliet—yet so it was, the children of the rival households had exchanged hearts.

He stood as if rooted to the ground, Loup-garou!" Such a deed could not fail to leave a deep impression in the minds of Toussaint pantons. Ever afterward it rained with hated breath and inspired gestures.

Old Tote-chauve shook his big blind head and looked gloomy when by chance he discovered how matters stood. He felt at once how foolish he might be at the end, and, although his kind heart warmed toward the sweet young girl, he could not help wishing that his master had never seen her.

When at length Tonimou found out who his sweetheart was, it was too late for him to turn about. She held him fast in her lovely net, lost beyond hope of escape. As for Anais Ungepout, she too was startled by the discovery that she loved Tonimou de Hillec. It was enough for her happiness that she loved him and that he loved her. There was no room for any other passion, sentiment or experience; her heart was full.

Day after day they met out on the water and, losing their little clothes to the gether, drifted slowly and carelessly on the gentle waves and, conversing on the low, soft tones of love. Always somewhere between them and the horizon glittered the white wings of the two swans.

Then, overcome by the love he rooked and fell to the floor.

Of course no one in the details of what had happened, but it was thought had been added another link in the chain of the family feud.

It would have been a curious interesting study for some researchers the slowly development of this strange drama. The months and the two young the same room, painfully sentimental degrees convalesced suffered from a new brought on by excitement the work, Jacques had of the law from a heavy blow of the head.

Anais was the nurse to be not for this story to detail fully and sweetly worked time between them. It was opportunity, and love was occasion. Tonimou's mother at the highest level for the women to love. This was half the battle; risk.

It is often used by vessels going on a foreign cruise on account of its healthful properties and also because it keeps fresh and clear for years. Those who live near it are not slow to declare that it is the healthiest place on the continent, and that perhaps not without reason for the faith which is in them.

A Convention of Cripples.

A convention of one armed and one legged men has been called and will meet in St. Louis in September, the object of the convention being the amelioration of the condition of this class of unfortunate. There will be an unprecedented display of artificial limbs and special appliances for the use of the maimed.

An evening will be devoted to the display of feats of strength and skill and endurance by one armed and one legged men.—Chicago Tribune
